What do you like above all?

I like the creative process in general: from the boiling of ideas to taking photos of the creation. Above all, I like thinking about creation, finding the way to achieve what I want.

What would you take to a desert island so as not to get bored?

Wool ! Because you can knit, unravel and re-knot to do new things.

Do you have a totally crazy and excessive addiction but fully assumed?

If I only had one it would be nice! To sum up, we are going to say that I have an addiction to creative hobbies in general so I collect wool, paper, pencils and pearls!

What is the creation you are most proud of?

The creation I'm most proud of is the knotted rug that I made last year. It is a carpet of 1m by 1m50 which decorates my son's room.

Your favorite creative technique?

I don't have a favorite creative technique per se. I like to discover and learn new techniques. So I can weave beads one day and paint the next. However, I don't think I can spend a day without knitting because this technique relaxes me especially after a long day of work.

What is your favorite color panel?

All the blues: turquoise blue, navy blue, duck blue, sky blue?

And I really like to associate blue with white or beige and gold.

What tools can you do without?

It is not very conventional but the tools which are essential to me whatever the creation are my camera & my computer! I share almost all of my creations on my blog, Youtube and social networks.

What is your greatest source of inspiration?

My inspiration comes a lot from social networks, especially Pinterest. It is a great tool that also allows you to ?store? inspirations by category! Their search engine is very relevant in multiple fields, DIY but also cooking and many others. In short, I highly recommend this platform.

Your favorite proverb or saying?

My favorite quote comes from the book Alice in Wonderland by Lewis Carroll. It is also listed on my Instagram profile: ?I am not crazy, my reality is just different than yours?. Creative people often taken for crazy / eccentric but it is that we do not have the same perception of the world around us.

What are your current projects?

There won't be enough places for me to list my current projects. I always have a lot of projects in progress and 10 more planned in my head.

Any advice for beginners? or the dumpling not to do?

Persevere. When you start, it can be complicated because it does not happen the first time or the rendering is not what we imagined. However, persevere and you will be proud of what you have created.

Thanks to Alice for playing the game!
