

BARBIECORE TREND: 5 PINK JEWELS TO ADOPT

By : Laurence T Perles&Co

TENDANCE BARBIECORE

5 bijoux roses
à adopter

0 minutes

Ever since Barbie came to life in the guise of actress Margot Robbie, a totally girly pink wave has swept through the world of fashion and decor. The Barbiecore trend was born on social networks even before the release of director Greta Gerwig's film, and it's still going strong.

What is Barbiecore? It's copying the outfits, looks and aesthetics inspired by the famous Mattel doll. Translation: pink, pink and more pink everywhere. And we love it. Pop fashion, colorful and sweet, covering all shades of pink (from pastel to neon pink, fuchsia, candy pink and magenta). It's an opportunity to reclaim this shade, too often disparaged and too quickly dismissed as girly. The most daring will dare to go for the total pink look, while the wisest can adopt the pink attitude by wearing this color in small touches, with strong, well-chosen pieces. Your look will get a boost. And what if you too succumbed to the pink barbie trend? In addition to the many pearls and jewelry components at the bottom of this article, discover a selection of 5 DIY costume jewelry tutorials to create yourself, inspired by the Barbie universe:

1 - The pink pearl necklace

It's easy to adopt the barbiecore trend with this chunky pearl necklace. Very simple to make, you can adapt the length of your jewel to your desires and your morphology. Choker or sautoir, it's up to you! This style of necklace will please beginners and experienced designers alike.

DIY tutorial - Large pink pearl necklace with Linhasita fluorescent thread

2 - Stacking elastic bracelets

Another easy-to-make tuto, simply stringing heishi beads and curved tube beads onto an elastic thread. Personalize these ultra-feminine elastic bracelets with the pink heishi of your choice: natural stone, polymer clay, ceramic... Just let your creativity guide you.

DIY Bracelets on elastic thread in gold, white and neon pink accumulation

3 - The pink cowrie shell bracelet

To embrace the pink power trend, we suggest making this shell bracelet. It's simple, charming and super girly! With a few colorful gold beads to spice it up, it's the kind of bracelet we love. What's more, it'll be perfect this summer for strolls on the beach.

Fluorescent multi-row bracelet with cauri shell and pearls

4- Vintage earrings

Vintage earrings (in pink, of course!) are always in vogue and suit every look. They always add a touch of glamour and elegance to a look. Compose the earrings of your dreams with the transparent or opaque pink pearls you'll find on our site!

Another easy but frighteningly effective idea: a pair of fancy ear rings with a pink chalcedony heart pendant or a fuchsia acrylic pendant, attached to a pink flower stud earring. In just two or three swipes, you've got a trendy piece of jewelry inspired by the world of Barbie dolls.

Trio of DIY earrings with colorful vintage pearls

5 - Pink Fimo earrings

Last but not least, here's a pair of dangling ear rings in Fimo clay that might well have been seen in the Barbie movie. In a pink color block spirit, they're ideal for beginners and totally Barbie girl. You can adapt this model to your desires with a whole range of pink Fimo clay, as well as screens to create the texture of your choice and cookie cutters to create the shapes you like. It's all up to you!

Result