Now that we've covered colors, let's move on to jewelry! Have you checked out the trending colors for Fall/Winter 2026-2027? Here are the styles to pair with this color palette. This season, jewelry blends heritage with boldness. You'll find vintage pieces, woven designs, natural stones, animal prints, and resin. Good news: you can make it all yourself, whether you're a beginner or an experienced creator.

The 5 jewelry trends of the season at a glance

Trend	DIY Theme
Vintage	Edgy, precious, intricate
Woven / Seed beads	Creative, graphic, colorful
Natural stones	Relaxed, lasting color
Resin	Playful, fashion-forward look
Rein	Color, texture, modernity

Vintage jewelry: The Return of Retro Chic

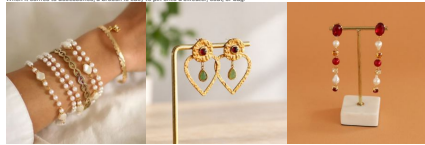

Vintage makes its way into your jewelry boxes with intricately crafted pieces and gold finishes. The spirit is that of heirloom jewelry, with a modern twist.

The hallmarks of this style:

- hammered or ornate gold tone metals
- hearty and romantic patterns
- beads and freshwater pearls
- animal-shaped brooches and pendants
- large resin cabochons
- contemporary interpretations of religious symbols

For a glamorous look in 10 minutes, try these heart-shaped earrings with a garnet cabochon and an aventurine pendant. The assembly is easy enough for beginners. Want something with movement? Large earrings made of crystals and freshwater beads give off a vintage jewelry vibe. When it comes to accessories, a brooch is easy to pin onto a sweater, coat, or bag.

Weaving and seed beads: colorful patterns

Seed beads take center stage in creative, vibrant jewelry. The patterns are graphic: checkerboards, stripes, and stylized flowers.

This trend is appealing because it gives you free rein over your color palette. You choose your shades, your combinations, and your level of difficulty.

- Beginners: a simple woven bracelet, just a few rows.
- Experts: more complex necklaces combining Miyuki beads and mother of pearl.

To get started, check out our guides on bead weaving. When it comes to inspiration, anything is possible:

- woven bracelets
- colorful beaded necklaces
- woven earrings and mouth rings

Natural stones: beginning with color

Natural stones remain a safe bet, with one key principle: layering. Layer necklaces, add multiple strands, and mix and match colors.

The concept is simple. You combine several stones of different colors and sizes in a single piece of jewelry. Pendants and spacers give structure to your designs, while small charms add a playful touch to a classic arrangement.

Here are a few ideas to try:

- A multi-strand necklace made of gemstones and mother of pearl
- A resin stone necklace, in keeping with this season's earthy tones.

And to keep up with this year's color trends, opt for the purple of amethyst, the red of garnet, the orange of carnelian, or the midnight blue of lapis lazuli!

Quilting and animal prints: the bold touch

This is the season's hottest trend. Animal prints add character to a simple outfit. Leopard, panther, and more: wear them as an accent or as a full look.

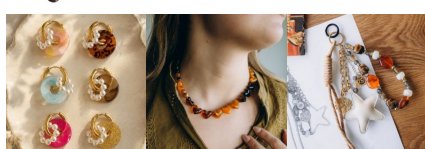

Our tip: Choose just one statement piece and keep the rest neutral. A few ideas:

- A bead necklace with a beaded scarf
- A leopard print charm necklace
- A quilted scarf, to wear as is or to customize

Rein jewelry: Color, Material, and Modernity

Rein adds bold color and modern shapes. It works just as well for elastic bracelets as it does for bandy hoop earrings, necklaces in full hues, or even bag charms—this year's must-have accessory!

How can you pair these pieces with this season's colors?

Each style complements a part of the 2026-2027 color palette. Here are our pairing suggestions:

- Vintage: warm golds, rich purples, burgundy, and reds
- Woven: winter blues, charcoal, spicy warmth
- Natural Stones: deep naturals, earth and chocolate, slate gray
- Animal print: earth and chocolate, winter neutrals
- Resin: chevron, rich purples, burgundy
