By : Perles & Co

For the record, Mail Art comes from soldiers who, at the time, were drawing on envelopes to avoid censorship when communicating with their families.

Today, true trend today, mail art is however very little discussed ... To you to fix it!

Without telling you what to do and how, let your imagination do the work:

- Draw your thoughts thanks to the markers ,
- Paste stickers that express your feelings,
- Cut out shapes in decorative paper and paste them to add your personal touch,
- Decorate your envelope with masking tape ,

It's all about transmitting through art what words can not!
