How to weave a plant in Peyote?

Today it's Audrey aka Gray About who offers you her Anthurium Clarinervium weaving grid in Miyuki Delicas 11/0 beads.

Second winner of our "Weave your green plant" challenge, find his world on his Instagram page and on his blog "Our little ideas" with lots of pretty tutorials to make: pearl weaving, DIY recovery, or jewelry.

And let's go for the tutorial!

Audrey made the peyote weaving in 2 weavings:

First weaving: The cup (remember not to store the threads at the end of weaving), starting with the longest row to avoid increases.

Second weaving: The plant!

List of pearls:

For the cup:

- DB-0203
- DB-0066 (out of stock for the moment therefore to be replaced by DB-0201)
- DB-2142
- DB-0410

For the plant:

- DB-0724
- DB-2381
- DB-2123
- DB-0732
- DB-1516

Audrey's tip: The weaving was done with two different threads, the cup with a gold thread and the plant with a green thread, wow effect guaranteed!

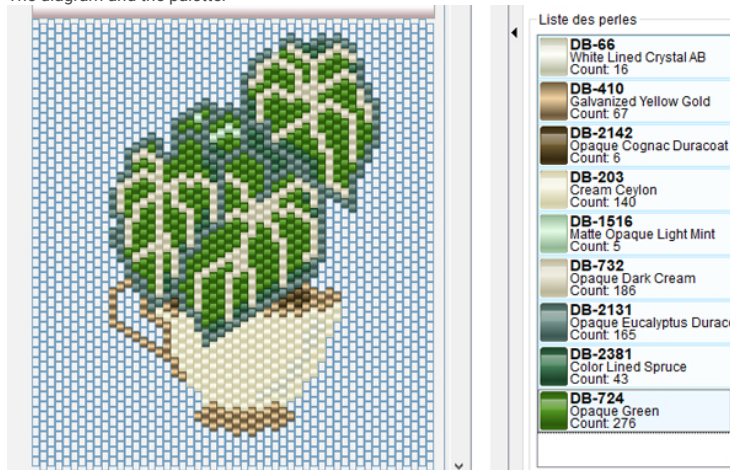

When you have made the two weavings, join the 2 weavings with the gold thread of the cup.

To terminate, bring out the threads of the cup by the same pearl and create the handle of the cup using 2 needles which are passed into the opposite sides of each pearl (as for starting a weaving brickstich)

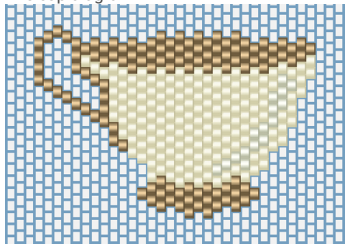

Audrey's little words:

- Doing two weavings does not get tangled with the pearl colors
- Weaving anthurium in brickstich is totally possible
