How to make a pendant with a cabochon?

Do you know the good news of the day? The new Puca cabochons have arrived. You may have been waiting for them, (or maybe not) but after the 25 mm and 18 mm cabochons, it is now the turn of the 14 mm cabochons to make their entrance. And for the occasion, Puca as always spoils you with new patterns, which can be combined or not to make a set.

Here, it is the Takamata pendant, which we propose you to make. Three different diameters of cabochons, a setting with Miyuki seed beads and Delicas, for a necklace that hangs and highlights your neckline. To adjust its length, feel free to add an extension chain.

Of course, you can modify the colors of this tutorial for a jewel that looks like you: opt for different colors or identical sizes of cabochons, a contrast between colors or conversely a perfect color chart. In any case, it's up to you to choose among all the references of cabochons by Puca available on our site.

Tip: When we took a look at our technical sheet: How to crimp a cabochon with macramé knots, we thought that this tutorial could be used for a surprising but equally pleasant mix of materials. Who is ready to swap Miyuki Delicas for a setting with macramé wire? If you try it, we would be delighted if you could share the result of your creation with us.

NB: The gold flower cups are not available. We therefore invite you to replace them with a golden 8/0 seed bead like on the top of the cabochon in order to be able to connect them with an open ring.

For this realization, nothing more You just have to download and follow the diagram step by step.
