How to make a bracelet with a cabochon?

Today, Puca proposes you to make the Tonka bracelet. Tonka is a mix of Arcos and Amos beads by Puca but also a touch of seed beads and Miyuki delicas all woven around a cabochon 14 mm. As you know, Puca masters its pearls better than anyone else and the shapes used in this jewel blend perfectly to highlight the cabochon in the center of it.

Tonka can be worn as a bracelet as proposed in this tutorial or as a necklace by adjusting the length of the chain. To be worn alone or in accumulation this bracelet can be accompanied by other very fine jewels. Ideal for parties, occasions or simply a chic daily outfit, the association of gold and white colors will blend with your entire wardrobe. But as usual, you are free to combine this jewel with your favorite colors. To personalize your bracelet, discover all the references of cabochons, and Arcos and Amos pearls available on our website. Create THE jewel that looks like you and leave room for originality.

It's up to you to let your imagination run wild! Download the diagram and follow the steps step by step.
