How to make a DIY men's bracelet?

Video tutorial on youtube: <https://youtu.be/eqB93cHaGHU>

Want to please someone you know? We've got just what you need to create a piece of jewelry for men or unisex with 1.5 mm leather cord. It's an ideal gift idea for a birthday, Christmas or Valentine's Day. In this simple tutorial, you'll learn how to make a leather bracelet for men. You can also make a couple's bracelet by making two matching bracelets. For more gift ideas, visit our men's tutorials.

This bracelet was originally created by Julie Roméro. It was made with a gold clasp that you'll find in variation. However, following a number of misunderstandings about the steps involved and a few problems with the dimensions of the cords, we decided to remake it a little differently on video. The new version is simpler to make, a little thinner and uses a different silver clasp.

Information on bracelet dimensions:

To make the new version, you'll need a 1 m piece of leather cord and another 2.5 m minimum to make a 22 cm bracelet. A 22 cm bracelet is suitable for a maximum 18 cm wrist. Make the bracelet 4 to 5 cm longer than the size of your wrist, as it is thick and a little stiff. Add 5 cm to the 1 m cord for each additional centimeter of wrist circumference. For the second 2.5 m cord, add 25 cm for each additional centimeter of wrist circumference. We love to see what you can do with the tutorials on Perles & Co.
