Creating a golden stainless steel necklace for the summer will only take you an hour. Stainless steel is a metal that does not oxidize. Usually, it is dark silver, but you will find in our store various accessories and chains in gold galvanized stainless steel. This water resistant jewel will be your vacation companion. The gold may fade over time, depending on the manufacturing methods of our suppliers, but you will still have a necklace that will remain very pretty over time and will not rust.

To decorate the golden stainless steel chain, learn how to make small flowers out of seed beads that will be inserted into the necklace. These little flowers are very easy to make. We had used them once in the tutorial daisy chain bracelet to find by clicking on the link. If you have already made this necklace, you will probably already have the beads and thread to make it again. If you don't, if you like the ring, think about sharing the two projects to save money.

These flowers are made with Miyuki 8/0 seed beads, but you can use other seed beads too. Remember to check that the rings will fit easily through the hole in your beads, even after several passes of the wire. See more bead color ideas at the bottom of the page.
