How to make dangling earrings?

Fleur de cristal, that's the little name of the DIY jewelry collection in which this tutorial is integrated. In this one, a set of colored crystal jewelry to put a maximum of shine and light in our spring looks (and all year long actually!). Because yes, these crystal jewels would go just as well with a beautiful evening outfit or a party look!

In this tutorial you will learn how to make a pair of dangling earrings with crystals in just a few minutes and with a bit of care. The range of colors available among PureCrystal crystals is very wide so you will be able to have fun and create the combinations of your choice without any problem. Let your creativity flow!

Accessible to beginners in jewelry making, you will need nothing more than a flat jewelry clip to tighten the claws of the crimps on the crystals. Yes, there's nothing more to it than that: gently position the crystal cabochon in the color of your choice in its setting before closing the claws that hold the crystal in place.

Place your square crystal in the ear stud. Using flat jewelry pliers (preferably with a nylon tip so as not to damage the crystal), fold back the prongs of the crimp to hold the cabochon in place. Make the second one.

★ Step 2/3

Do the same with the multi-seam holder by gently positioning the crystals

★ Step 3/3

Then connect the pendant with its crystals to the ear stud with an open ring and your jewelry pliers. Your pair of earrings is already finished.
