How to make crepe paper flowers?

Give a springtime air to your decor with this floral crown of flowers made of crepe paper, eucalyptus leaves all mounted on a bamboo circle. This simple and fast DIY DIY tutorial is an original alternative to the classic bouquet of flowers. In addition, this wreath will not fade and Eucalyptus will scent the air for several days before drying without deteriorating!

Step 1:
Print, check the size of the templates and cut them out. The 6.8 cm and 5.3 cm templates correspond to the white flower. The center of this flower is yellow. The template 6.3 cm corresponds to the yellow flower, yellow heart. The template of 2.8 cm corresponds to the flowers red raspberry color. You can make them a raspberry red or white heart. For each flower cut out 4 petals 6.8 cm and 3 petals 5.3 cm respectively in white crepe paper, 6 petals of 6.3 cm yellow and 7 petals of 2.8 cm in red.

2nd step:
Curl the petals by stretching them in some way. Do not stretch the petals of the white flower. Stretch only the top edge of the petals of the yellow flower and the center / top of the red petals.

Step 3:
Cut strips of crepe paper 1.5 cm high by 2 to 4 cm wide depending on the size of the flowers. Make fringes in these bands leaving a margin of 1 cm on one side.

Step 4:
Take a few pistils and fold them in half. Spread glue with a brush on the margin of 1 cm and roll them around the pistils.

Step 5:
Paste the petals one by one based on the flower you created in step 4.

Step 6:
Cut two branches of eucalyptus to the desired size. With a copper wire wrap their base together then fix them to the bamboo circle at the metal part that you will hide with the flowers. Tie the branches to the circle at 1 or 2 other places with a new piece of copper wire to follow them around the circle.

Step 7:
Wrap a new piece of wire on the base of a flower and glue them together with hot glue then attach the flower to the circle with the remaining wire and then again with the glue gun. Repeat this step for the rest of the flowers.
You can add other fresh flowers or crepe paper to your crown to make it change its appearance from time to time.
