How to make resin flower earrings?

You probably haven't missed it: resin flowers are right on trend! So what better way to adopt this trend than with a quick and easy tutorial? In this tutorial, you'll learn how to make a pair of creoles simply by stringing natural stone beads onto a wire. Thread the transparent resin flower and knot the wire to form a circle. All that's left is to thread the circle of pearls into the creole, and you'll be able to wear this cute pair of earrings to accessorize all your everyday looks.

You can have fun creating an infinite number of variations: an accumulation of several circles on the creole, a mix of colors and sizes of pearls on the circle, pearly pearls... It's up to you to let your imagination run wild. You can also change the color of the natural stones. For my part, it was difficult to choose the color of the little flowers, each of which I find prettier than the next. But for example, you could combine white flowers with moonstone, old rose flowers with rose quartz or ochre flowers with citrine.

★ Step 1/4

Cut a piece of nylon thread about 15 cm long (just for comfort when creating the knot). String 11 gemstone beads onto the nylon wire (or more or less, depending on the diameter of the desired bead ring).

★ Step 2/4

Before closing your pearl circle, thread on a mini flower.

★ Step 3/4

Next, tie a simple knot with both ends of the wire to form a ring of beads. Make a second knot on top to ensure the knot's strength. You can even add a dot of glue to the double knot. Cut off the ends of the nylon thread and leave to dry for a few hours.

★ Step 4/4

All that's left is to thread the pearl ring into your sleeper.
Repeat these steps a second time to make your pair of earrings.
