How to personalize a necklace with charms?

And it's time to close this winter ball with this final charm necklace tutorial. Ideal for a last-minute gift, this pattern is both quick and easy to make. Perfect for a gift duo, it lets you create a unique necklace for yourself and a second one for the person of your choice. This duo of necklaces will be a symbol of friendship, while leaving a personal touch thanks to the possibility of personalizing the charms according to your tastes or those of the person you're giving it to.

For this necklace, we've opted for freshwater pearls and a variety of charms. To make this model, you'll need a gold chain, freshwater pearls, a letter charm, a key charm and a buoy clasp. To personalize your creation, you can of course choose other charms from among those available on the site. We also offer a variation with a round lobster clasp in place of the buoy clasp. You can find the products of the second version in the list of variations at the bottom of the page.

This jewel can be worn for occasions such as the festive season, but also for everyday wear to bring a touch of elegance and vintage to your looks. For more vintage jewelry creation ideas for beginners, check out our other tutorials!

Start by threading four freshwater pearls onto a nail. Form a loop using round-tipped pliers or loop-forming pliers. If necessary, consult our "Forming a loop on a nail" data sheet.

★ Step 2/3

Open three rings and thread them through each charm. Close the rings and thread them through the buoy clasp.

★ Step 3/3

Cut the chain with wire cutters into two equal pieces, adjusting them to the length of your neck. Take one of the two pieces and hook the extension chain and a ring on the other. Take the second piece and hook the clasp and a ring on the other side. Pass both rings through the buoy clasp and your necklace is complete.
