How to make a Wrap bracelet with bangles?

There are many variations of the Wrap bracelet. In this tutorial we will weave pearls, pearls PureCrystal two bangles bracelets with the technique of Wrap. The technique is identical to that used in the following tutorial: "Faceted Beads Wrap Bracelet", but the materials and structure of the bracelet are different.

Do not hesitate to adapt this technique to our other bangles and to be imaginative about the choice of pearls! A Wrap bracelet with mini hematites for example?

The list of materials indicated at the bottom of the page corresponds to the 3 bracelets presented in this tutorial. To know what to buy to make the bracelets separately refer to the list at the bottom of the pictures of the bracelets.

Step 1:
Cut a piece of Miyuki wire at least 1 m to be sure you have enough thread to the end of the bracelet. But if your thread is too short, do not panic! You will simply need to make two extra knots to stop and resume with a new thread.

2nd step:
Tie the thread to one of the bracelet with a double knot. Leave 10 cm of thread end. Put a pinch of Cleotop glue on the knot to solidify it. Then put on a pearly pearl. Pass the needle inside the second bangle and then go back into the bead and pull. Then do the same thing with the first bangle.

Step 3:
Your thread comes out of the top of the bead. Pass the needle over the bangle bracelet 2 and then underneath so wind it on a half turn. Add a new mother-of-pearl pearl and attach it to the bangle bracelet 1 as in step 2. Your thread comes out of the bead from the top.
Step 4:
Repeat step 3 until you go around the bracelet. Tighten the thread and gather the beads as you go. To finish make a double knot by tying the thread to another thread and put a dab of glue to hold the knot.
