How to make bracelets with nylon thread?

Summer's here and what better way to (re)start creating jewelry? With our new tutorial, find out how to create a trio of trendy summer bracelets with colorful nylon thread!

This tutorial is suitable for beginners, but if you're at a more advanced level, you can take a break from this tutorial or add a little whimsy by tying another macramé knot.

These bracelets are so easy to make, you'll be inspired to create your own collection! For this tutorial, we used nylon thread, pink flower pendants and gold beads and primers. These colors are reminiscent of the summer season. To further personalize these jewels, you can opt for other colors of nylon thread or flower pendants, depending on the colors available on our site. Don't hesitate to choose a clasp you like for the third bracelet or if you prefer a less fancy style.

This trio of summer bracelets can be completely combined with beach jewelry. To bring out the glitter of the nylon threads, you can wear a pretty white blouse or beach dress to match the theme! For special occasions or everyday wear, these bracelets can be worn without moderation. What do you think?

At home or on the warm sand, let this easy tutorial inspire you to create summer's hottest bracelets. If you'd like to make other simple jewelry pieces to shine on the beach, check out all our beach tutorials.

We love seeing your creations. So, if you reproduce this tutorial, don't hesitate to share it on social networks by mentioning us or tagging us on Facebook and Instagram with #Perlesandco!

steps

★ Step 1/5

Start by cutting 25 cm of nylon thread, to leave room for the overhand knot later on. But if you have a small wrist, cut 20 cm instead.

Then thread the thread onto the flower pendant.

★ Step 2/5

Then group the wires together to form a bracelet. You can tape them together for simplicity.

Then cut off 25cm of wire to create the overhand knot.

★ Step 3/5

To make the overhand knot, watch this tutorial: Learn how to make a macramé overhand knot.

Once you've made the knot, you can cut the wires and/or burn the ends.

You can repeat all these steps to make the second bracelet, simply by choosing another flower pendant and another nylon thread color.

★ Step 4/5

For the last bracelet, simply repeat the cutting steps and use the buoy clasp as the pendant. Then add the rings and tie a knot to hold the wires tight. Next, thread the wires through the flower beads on either side. You can burn the wires to make sure they fit inside the bead. You can attach the rings to different parts of the buoy clasp, or attach a ring to the clasp ring. Tie a knot on each side to hold the beads in place. Finish with the overhand knot.

★ Step 5/5

And now your trio of bracelets is ready to wear!
