How to make a Cowgirl charm necklace?

Want to add a touch of the Far West to your summer looks? This Western charm necklace is for you! With its little gold charms in the shape of a hat, cowboy boots, cactus or even a bull's head, this colorful piece of jewelry is full of character and evokes the great outdoors, blazing sunsets and the free spirit of the West.

Inspired by current trends, this necklace stylishly blends gold chain, western charms, red tassels and faceted tassels for a luminous, original look. It's the perfect accessory to liven up a sober outfit or to complete a bohemian or festival look.

What we love? The ability to personalize your necklace as you wish: you can play with the length, change the order of the charms, add more or opt for a more minimalist version. The cowgirl spirit adapts to every style!

This tutorial is accessible to everyone, even beginners. It requires very little material and is an easy introduction to jewelry-making.

A little bonus: this necklace goes wonderfully well with thin gold necklaces, for a trendy layered effect. It also works well with natural materials such as linen, cotton or denim. Wear it with a white dress, black camisole or flowing top to highlight its charming charms.

Good to know: Cowgirl charms are exclusive to Perles and Co, and are also available in pink for an even softer, more feminine touch!
