How to make an elastic bracelet with resin beads

Discover how to create an elegant and trendy elastic bracelet with marbled brown resin beads and gold-plated stainless steel charms. This bracelet model is perfect for those looking for a piece of jewelry that's easy to make, without clasps or complex techniques.

Accessible to jewelry-making beginners, this bracelet can be assembled in less than 15 minutes.

Elastic bracelets are one of the most popular DIY jewelry items: they're quick and easy to make, and the results are always impressive. The use of elastic thread creates a comfortable bracelet that fits any wrist. No need to fiddle with a clasp in the morning, just slip it onto your hand and you're done!

We've prepared a complete step-by-step tutorial to guide you through the making of this marbled bead bracelet. You'll learn how to thread the beads, position the golden charms harmoniously, and make a strong, discreet knot. Brown is a timeless, refined color, perfect for fall/winter. Pair this bracelet with beige, camel or even black for a sophisticated look. The gold-plated stainless steel charms add a luminous, bohemian touch that enhances the ensemble. We've opted for gold or blue-tone charms, but feel free to vary your choice from our wide selection of stainless steel charms. You can also adapt this jewel in silver!

Whether you're a DIY jewelry enthusiast or a beginner at creating elastic bracelets, this is the project for you. Go ahead and create a unique personalized bracelet with marbled beads and gold charms!

★ Step 1/4

Cut about 30 cm of elastic thread with scissors or wire cutters and stretch slightly to prevent it from relaxing too much later.

Open a ring with one or two flat pliers and slide in the beads, then the charm. Close the ring using your pliers. Follow the same procedure for the four charms. Two of the charms are beads threaded onto a head nail. Simply form a loop with round-nose pliers and slide the loop through the bead-charm ring.

★ Step 2/4

Start threading your beads onto the elastic thread in the same order as shown in the photo.

★ Step 3/4

Make a surgeon's knot: wrap the wire twice around the other end, then tighten firmly. Double-wrap the wire around the other end again, and tighten securely.

★ Step 4/4

Trim excess wire to about 2 mm from the knot. Apply a drop of glue if desired, then slide the knot into a bead to conceal it inside.
