steps

★ Step 1/5

Start by cutting a piece of wire, about 40 cm wide. Pass the wire through a Crimp bead and then through a wire guard. Slide the clasp into the wire guard to secure it, then pass the wire back through the crush bead. Crush it with a pair of crush bead pliers. Then cover with a bead cover.

If you need further information, please see our video "How to use Crimp beads".

★ Step 2/5

Prepare your charms: slide 2 eye beads and 2 freshwater pearls onto a nail and form a loop using round-tipped pliers. Bend the nail so that it makes a right angle (90°) from the bead. Leave about 1 cm for a medium-sized loop. Cut and wrap the rod around the round ends in the opposite direction to the right angle.

For more details, watch our video on "Forming a loop on a nail".

For other charms, simply attach rings to each one.

★ Step 3/5

You can now start stringing the beads. First I strung about 68 beads, then the bird charm.

★ Step 4/5

Continue threading the beads and charms. You can string them in the order shown in the photo, or in any order you like. Here, after the bird, I've strung a freshwater pearl, the tree of life charm, an eye pearl, the shark tooth charm, an eye pearl, the dream catcher charm, a freshwater pearl and the eye charm. Between each charm, I strung 32 seed beads.

★ Step 5/5

After the eye charm, re-string 68 beads and close the necklace: pass the thread through a Crimp bead, back through a wire guard and again through the Crimp bead. Detach the extension chain from the clasp and hook it onto the wire guard. Crush the bead with crush bead pliers and cover with a bead cover. Cut the protruding wire and your necklace is complete.
