How to make dangling earrings with chains?

Make your own PureCrystal earrings and chains with this trendy and accessible DIY jewelry tutorial. This model is part of the Frangines collection, a range of festive jewelry inspired by bangs and tassels, designed to bring movement and light to your creations. PureCrystal crystals offer an intense, refined sparkle, while the gold-plated stainless steel chain ensures an elegant, durable and water-resistant finish: ideal for a piece of jewelry you'll keep for a long time!

These dangling earrings are perfect for evenings out, holiday parties, weddings or any occasion where you want to shine. They slim the silhouette, brighten the face and dress up an outfit in the blink of an eye. A chic, modern accessory that's as easy to wear with a dress as with a simpler look.

The tutorial is suitable for all levels, including beginners. All you have to do is cut the chains, glue on the PureCrystal cabochon, then assemble the elements with rings. Count on around 45 minutes' fabrication time and €25 worth of materials to obtain a professional-looking piece of jewelry, without breaking the bank. You'll need just a few essential tools: a pair of pliers is all you need to get started.

Want to personalize them? Good news: our PureCrystal range offers several cabochon colors to create your own versions: bright red, deep blue, champagne tone, soft pink... It's up to you to choose according to your outfit, your make-up or the mood of your evening.

These DIY earrings are also a great gift idea: a handmade, personalized piece of jewelry always pleases and marks the attention paid to the person.

Start by gluing the cabochons to the earstuds with Hasulith jewelry glue. Allow to dry thoroughly. Cut 2 pieces of 11.5cm, 1 piece of 7.5cm and one piece of only 3 chain links. Repeat 2 times for the 2 earrings.

★ Step 2/3

Take an 11.5 cm piece of chain and thread it through a small ring. Hook this ring onto the ring at the end of the ear stud, then close it. Open a large ring, hook it onto the earring back, then add the chain you've just attached. Tip: to open a ring, turn the two ends in opposite directions (front to back), without spreading it to the sides. This preserves the ring's shape and makes it easy to close again.

★ Step 3/3

The same goes for hanging the rhinestone spacer. Repeat for all chain pieces and both earrings. Your earrings are ready to dance with you!
