steps

★ Step 1/6

Start by arranging your beads as follows on a flat surface, to visualize the sequence of beads to be joined together.

★ Step 2/6

Slide a round-headed nail into the pearly bead that will be the centerpiece of your necklace. Using wire cutters, cut the nail so that you have 2 cm of wire left. Then form a loop using round-tipped pliers.

You can use our data sheet: Forming a loop on a nail or jewelry wire.

Do the same for all the other beads, joining them together. However, keep aside a green crystal drop, a red crystal butterfly, an AB crystal heart, a blue crystal drop and an AB crystal drop.

★ Step 3/6

You can now slide a flat-headed nail into the red crystal butterfly and the AB crystal heart. Then, using wire cutters, cut the nail so that you have 2 cm of wire left. Form a loop using round-tipped pliers. Attach approximately 3cm of chain to the crystal AB core.

★ Step 4/6

Now hook the end of the chain, with a ring, to the loop formed to the left of your pearly bead in the center of the necklace.

★ Step 5/6

For the other crystal pearls and drops set aside, distribute them as follows on your necklace using 4x0.4 mm rings:

- green crystal drop: cut 1.5cm of chain and hang between the flower and the irregular baroque freshwater pearl,
- red crystal butterfly: cut 2cm of chain and hang between the AB crystal butterfly and the flat pearly pearl,
- blue crystal drop: cut 1cm of chain and hang between the green crystal clover and the AB crystal butterfly,
- crystal AB drop: cut 2.5cm of chain and hang between the pink butterfly and the brown clover.

★ Step 6/6

Finish your necklace by attaching your lobster clasp to one end with a 5x0.8 mm ring. Do the same on the other end with the extension chain.
