How to decorate a bangle bracelet with gemstone beads Lapis Lazuli?

This tutorial presents a method for customizing the rods with a space to integrate 4mm beads. This ring exists in 4 finishes on our website: gold, silver, rose gold and black nickel. They have a hollow space in the center with a ring on each side.

The trick is to use a very large round head nail or wire to attach the beads to the ring because with a weaving thread or nylon beads will not follow the curve of the bracelet. With a wire you can bend the string of beads to follow the curve of the ring.

Have fun varying colors by choosing from our selection of 4mm gemstone beads. Wear your bracelet stacking with other elastic bracelets for example for a more bohemian look.

Step 1 :

Cut a piece of wire about 10 cm. Pass it through the front of one of the rings of the bracelet. Pass about 3 cm. Wrap the end of the wire around the ring a second time by ironing the end into the ring. Thread Lapis Lazuli beads, faceted squares and 3mm bohemian facets. Do the same on the other side to attach the wire to the bracelet.

2nd step :

On each side of the special 4mm bead space, thread the piece of wire in front between the beads and the rings. Wrap it all the way up and cut the flush cord on the back of the bracelet. Flatten it with a thin flat clip so that the end of the wire does not come out and does not scratch the skin.

And hop ! It's over !
